

Bogmuiza Manor Stone

Near Sece, on the edge of a corn-field, there is a large boulder standing. According to a legend once four men had sat on the stone and had played cards. Unfortunately the stone had cracked and one silver rouble had slipped into it and was lost and gone. Since he suffered so much, one of the players went into the depth looking for the rouble. And he was gone forever. After a moment another player went the same way. And also he disappeared and did not return. Same happened to the other players. It is told that since that time the crack with the silver rouble is still well visible at midnight.
